

Eucalyptus Identification Workshop

Presented by: Chris Ecroyd, Scion

A One Day Training Workshop - Thursday 17 Feb 2011

Sorrento in the Park
One Tree Hill Domain
Royal Oak, AUCKLAND

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

All those involved working with, growing or utilising eucalypts. Arborists, Foresters, Horticulturists, Saw Millers, Bio Security staff, the general tree and botanical enthusiast should attend.

OBJECTIVES

Attendees will learn a range of features used for eucalypt identification: bark types, leaves, buds and the characteristics of common groups such as blue gums, stringy-barks, ashes and peppermints. Attendees will also learn to recognise the common species found in New Zealand and be introduced to the use of the EUCLID identification key

PRESENTER

Chris Ecroyd is curator of the National Forestry Herbarium at Scion (New Zealand Forest Research Institute), Rotorua. For more than 35 years he has specialised in the identification of trees, particularly eucalypts, pines and other plantation forest species.
